A Jackson Will Case That Is Liable to Stir Up the Citizens of That

Quiet Burg.

Jackson, Mich., April 6 .- The Palmer will case, now on in the circuit court of this county, will attract a great deal of attention before the tria

Near'y sixty years ago Jushua Palmer and wife came to Jackson from New York state, and settled in the then village of Jacksonburg, now the city of Jackson. Mr. Paimer for lorty years followed the trade of a blacksmith. Mr. Palmer was a frogal man, a Seventh Day Adventist and a hard worker. What he earned beyond the necessary expenses of food and clothing he saved. In time he became the owner of considerable realty in the city, which increased in value year after year, and when he died, in 1888, he owned about $60,000 worth. On Mr. mer's death it was found that the bulk of this property had been left to his widow by will, with no provisions as to its disposal of er her decease. There had been two children born to Mr. and Mrs. I almer. They are Dr. Wm. H. Palmer in i Mrs. Annie Camp

The do tor i now about 50 years cld. His family consists of a wife and one daughter, the latter aged about 19 years. Mrs. Campbell also resides in this city with her husband, they having no children. Sixty days after the death of Joshua Palmer, the widow by deed conveyed to her two children certain property interests in the estate. Thirty days after that Mrs. Palmer made a will, leaving at her death the entire property, with the exception of the South Jackson farm, worth about $10,000, to her daughter, Mrs. Campbell. Three years after the will, on June 19, Mrs. Paimer died, being tenderly watched and cared for by Mrs. Campbell, with whom she re-sided after the death of Mr. Palmer. Dr. Palmer or any other member of the family never heard a whosper of the will made by Mrs. Palmer up to the time of her death.

The fight is now on. The doctor has, it is said, 150 witnesses already sum-moned, while the defense have not half so many. The doctor will under-take to prove that Mrs. Campbell deliberately influenced his mother to cut him off with a few acres of land while the defense will show, they say, that Mrs.Palmer frequently declared before her death that the doctor would be given, by will, just what his father had expressed a wish that Mrs. Paimer should give him after she had passed away. There if said to be some decidedly sensational testimony to come in on the part of the defense, which, not ruled out by the court, will cause a great deal of talk and comment.
